Dress Up with us on February 25th!

Reading to infants and children helps develop their vocabulary. Spending this time together also helps children learn about communication and helps to develop social skills. Reading to children at school is an important part of our day. Try creating routines at home that include reading together.

Classroom Spotlight: T5

T5 has come a long way this year! We have been working on letter, number, shape, and color recognition and to help us to learn these concepts, we engage in a lot of music and hands-on activities. We love to sing, dance, create, and learn through play. Most recently, we have explored different colors through action songs, painting, and mixing two colors to create a new color. One of our favorite, most recent activities was mixing colors using vinegar and baking soda to create a fun, exciting, fizzy science experiment. We also worked cooperatively to mix the ingredients to make a batch of puffy paint, which we used on our craft for the letter of the week. In T5, we can get a little messy at times, but we sure have fun!
